The Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) for Thames Valley, Anthony Stansfeld, will be holding a public meeting next week in Wokingham (07/10).

The event will be an opportunity for the PCC along with the Local Police Area Commander, Robert France, to meet and greet residents and deliver presentations about the role of the PCC and local policing in Wokingham. A representative from the Community Safety Partnership will also be in attendance to tell the public more about the work they carry out in the area.

Residents can also ask questions and feedback any concerns they have about policing and crime.

The meeting will take place at the Wokingham Methodist Church on Monday 7 October at 7pm.

Anthony Stansfeld, Police and Crime Commissioner for Thames Valley said: "This event is a good opportunity to engage with the public further about policing and crime in their area.

"It will also be a chance for residents to ask questions or feedback any concerns.

"It is important to me that communities are kept informed and their views are heard so I would encourage as many people to attend as possible."

Robert France, Local Police Area Commander for Wokingham said: "I am delighted to welcome Anthony back to Wokingham LPA, and look forward to the opportunity this presents to engage with local communities.

"We work hard through the community safety partnership, neighbourhood teams and the personal contacts developed by officers and staff to listen and respond to our communities. That dialogue between policing and the community is at the heart of the British model of policing and I would encourage people to take this opportunity to raise issues directly with the Police and Crime Commissioner."
